

433

AE ties patrician in Italy

Attila the Hun begins his reign.

433

PULCHERIA, ~~wife~~ <sup>sister</sup> of Theodosius II finally won the upper hand and in 433 Eudokia wife of Theodosius II was disgraced & retired to Jerusalem to devote her life to works of piety and charity.

Theodosius II is linked to THEODOSIAN CODE, a systematic compilation of imperial laws from the reign of Constantine onwards.

Theodosius II built the Theodosian walls to part of customs.

It is main problem now because from the HONS who are now established just north of the Saudi frontier.

The Goths were ready for action when their former queen Galla Placidia called for their aid against AETIUS. She commanded the praetorian Gothic "bucellarii" of her two former husbands, and this was the reason why she was exiled to Constantinople after the death of her brother (Honorius); she had simply become too powerful. It is not known whether Tolson or J. Edgar Hoover also come to stay to help her at the time.

Active, in any case, but neither his position nor his authority - he had the power
on his side

433-453

---

HUNS (TARTARS OR MONGOLIANS)
under Attila burst upon the empire
in Europe (433-453), having secured Constantinople

433

---

In 433 two brothers BLADA and ATTILA became joint rulers of HUNS on the death of their uncle.

The Huns were a nomadic mongol like who established an empire in eastern Europe from the Caspian Sea north to the Baltic.

By a campaign of bloodshed and distinction made from the Eastern Roman Empire to pay the taxes on census tribute in gold.

433

---

Attila was ruler of Huns
(A 453).

433AD

Attila becomes ruler of Huns
(died 453AD)